NC Teacher of the Year 2021:

Madison County Schools welcomed Eugenia Floyd, the 2021 Burroughs Wellcome Fund North Carolina Teacher of the Year. Ms. Floyd serves as an Advisor on the NC State Board of Education and travels the state as an ambassador for the profession. Ms. Floyd is a fourth grade teacher at Mary Scroggs Elementary School in Chapel Hill-Carrboro City Schools. Ms. Floyd, Dr. Will Hoffman, Lisa Gahagan, Monica Ponder, Susan Jackson, Marshay Huskins and Jennifer Mills spent the morning touring schools and classrooms highlighting what makes MCS extraordinary!

Marching Band Competes:

Madison High School's Marching Band attended the Cedar Cliffs Classic Tournament of Bands competition at A.C. Reynolds High School. The Band brought home several trophies including 1st place drum major and 2nd place color guard. They also received the "Rocket Award" in the Class 1A/2A Division. This award was earned by the band demonstrating the best attitude, enthusiasm, and spirit. Congratulations to all of these wonderful musicians and performers. Thank you

Mr. Chandler and Mr. Anderson for your continued hard work and leadership in developing and growing our band program!

Fire Prevention Month:

October is fire prevention month and students at Mars Hill Elementary School are learning valuable fire safety lessons this week. The Mars Hill Fire Department brought the fire truck for demonstration. Students learned about the different equipment on the truck, including important equipment firefighter's use when fighting fires and the students were able to climb in the truck! Thanks to Mars Hill Fire Department for visiting with our students.

Rotary Employee of the Month:

The Madison County Rotary Club recognized Ms. Kristy Waldroup, Lead Nurse, as the employee of the month for Madison County Schools. We appreciate Ms. Waldroup and her hard work helping to ensure the safety of our students and staff.
